Three companies of infantry, moving from Camp Eagle Pass to Fort

Sam Houston, San Antonio, passed through here about 4:00 o'clock Wednesday morning. They were traveling in army trucks.

The first bale of cotton of the 1918 season was brought in Wednesday. It was raised by Sid Wilson of the Yaney section, was ginned by the Hondo Gin & Milling Co., weighed 448 pounds, classed strict middling and was purchased by the Hondo Mercantile Co. for 27c a pound.

County Agent T. N. Lee was carried to a hospital in San Antonio Monday, some ten days ago Mr. Lee, while bathing in the Bless swimming pool lived head foremost into a shallow part of the pool severely lacerated his head and badly staining himself. He was brought to town and medical assistance summoned, but he failing to recover as readily as it was thought he should he was carried to the hospital for an X-ray examination. We are not advised as to what the X-ray disclosed, but Mr. Lee's friends trust he will suffer no permanent injury from his mishap.

Mrs. J. W. Griffis and children left Wednesday morning for Taylorsville, Illinois, where they will spend a while visiting relatives and friends.

Rev. Gus. Muennink, of New Fountain, Rev. A. Betz and Judge M. Schorobin, of Quill, were here Saturday evening together with members of every family of their sections to bid good-bye to the boys who joined the army.

Hon. H. P. Hornby of Uvalde, who was here last Saturday in the interest of his candidacy, in discussing the race for state representative, among other things, said: "The office is very important and in my talks I have favored the abolishment of unnecessary offices and commissions; adequate financial aid for our educational institutions, especially so for our rural schools, which I want to see run for the full term; better pay for school teachers; amending our Blue Sky law so as to catch fake advertisers of stock selling schemes; $3.00 per day for Jurors. I favored this before and introduced a bill and helped get the 50c increase we now have, but $3.00 per day would be none too much; a tannery at the state penitentiary for the making of leather for the shoes of the 10,000 inmates of the asylums and penitentiaries. The low price of hides and high price of leather would make this a good proposition for the state and help the local hide market; amending our laws so as to secure a better grade of seeds for our farmers; either amending or abolishing the High Way Commission so as to run it on less than it is now costing. It is not necessary to have some 80 men at high prices in this commission. Autos should not be taxed exorbitantly; they are a necessity and time-saver. The counties should also have some say-so about spending the money collected on auto tax. It will also be my policy to let the people of a county know of any law that will effect them locally, and I shall never try to run anything over them but shall always give them plenty of opportunity to find out what is being done or sought to be done. My idea of a representative is to represent the people of his district and to act as their servant. This was my record before and I shall try to live up to it again. I deeply appreciate the many compliments that have been paid me for my former services and trust to merit the same confidence and esteem of the people should I again be chosen to represent them."

More Registrants Sent In.

Twenty more Medina county young men entrained here Thursday evening for Camp Travis to take up military training. Following are the names of the boys who were called to the colors: J. Frank Schott, Theodore Barth, Wm. F. Ziegelnbalz, Tobe B. Roberson, J. D. Shelton, Aug. Boehme, Oscar Koenig, Horace Ham, John Faseler, Arturo Gutierrez, Alex Bohi, Aerial A. Haby, Edwin R. Wurzbach, Emil C. Buppert, Alfred Saathoff, Thomas Neuman, J. A. Breiten, Albert Schulze, Alfred Nester and Henry J. Boehle. A large number of the relatives and friends of the boys assembled at the depot to see them off.

Beside the two sons whom she idolized in life her body was laid to rest in a San Antonio cemetery. To her sorrowing relatives, but few of whom now remain in this county, the Anvil Herald extends condolence in their bereavement.

Beginning August 1st, auto parts, supplies and repairs will be strictly cash, thereby eliminating unnecessary labor. We wish to conduct business as economically and efficiently as possible at a saving to you.

Thanking you for your past patronage,

Mrs. Annie Kie Goza.

Mrs. Annie Kie Goza, a long resident of Texas, died at a local sanitarium yesterday evening. She was a native of Mississippi and had come to San Antonio only a week ago from her home in Hondo, for her health. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Sallie Redus of Devine, and several other relatives in the state. The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of Porter Loring, 206 Jefferson street. Rev. J. W. Long of Hondo will officiate and interment will be made in City Cemetery No. 3. —San Antonio Express, July 24.

The passing of Mrs. Goza removes one of the pioneer citizens of Medina county. Before the civil war the McLemore family (Mrs. Goza's maiden name being Annie Kie McLemore) established the family homestead on the Hondo, near the railroad bridge. But at that time the Southern Pacific railroad nor the town of Hondo had been dreamed of. This was a wild country when the McLemores settled here, and just how these early settlers protected themselves against the Indians who infested this section in those days we are unable to say. Decedent, so far as we know, made her home here continuously from the time of the first coming of the family to the time of her demise—some three quarters of a century. Some three or four years ago Mrs. Goza disposed of the old family homestead and had since made her home in the town of Hondo.

Only last week the Anvil Herald contained a notice of the transfer of deceased from her home here to a hospital in San Antonio. For the past several years her health had been steadily failing, primarily due to advancing years, and about one month ago the malady that affected her had progressed to such a degree that she was unable to leave her bed. Her relatives were summoned and did what they could to add to her comfort, but after a couple of weeks of nursing concluded to move her to a hospital where the facilities were greater to provide for her comfort, consequently one week to the day prior to her death she was placed in a hospital.

Decedent had been married four times, her first husband being a Mr. Redus. Two sons were born to this union, both of whom preceded their mother to the grave. Following the death of her first husband she was married to Dr. Goza, who also preceded her to the grave. Her last to marriages, owing to incompatibility, were of short duration, divorces resulting in a short time following the marriages.

Mrs. Goza was rather eccentric and preferred to live alone. She was absolutely fearless and for more than twenty years prior to moving to town she had lived practically alone on her farm and ranch, and never was a single time molested, although it was generally known that she at times had quite large sums of money in her possession.

Realizing that the end was approaching Mrs. Goza some three weeks ago is reported to have made her will. She was reputed to be quite wealthy but just who are the beneficiaries only the attorney who drew the instrument and the witnesses have positive knowledge.

One by one the pioneer citizens of Medina county are passing and with their passing valuable history of the early settlement of this section of the state is being forever lost. Decedent had witnessed the transformation of this section from a wilderness into a populous district, and many incidents of the gradual transformation which would prove of absorbing interest to coming generations must have been within the knowledge of the pioneer just passed.

Beside the two sons whom she idolized in life her body was laid to rest in a San Antonio cemetery. To her sorrowing relatives, but few of whom now remain in this county, the Anvil Herald extends condolence in their bereavement.

A Beauty Spot near Hondo.

Drought, heat and dust marked the month of July as one of the most unpleasant periods of the year. The visiting of friends and relatives and neighbors has nearly stopped on account of the dusty roads. The viewing of a river, of flowing springs or waterholes in the creeks is just now a beautiful sight for the eye. When Hondo people go about three miles in the direction of Tarpley and the north pole they find a small plateau to the right near the road. They pass farms and fields on the way there. While you see pretty cotton, with a good stand, on the west side of the field east of the road is almost bare. Both fields are of the same quality of soil, prepared and planted alike and at about the same time. Insects had operated in their chess-board like movements. A high scaffold on the plateau indicates that a deep well has been bored there. A graded street leads up the hill from where you have a fine view over the town and all around the country, especially to the north as far as to the bat cave hill. But right here on the spot is a pretty sight. The wind and sun are playing with the waves of the clear water in two bathing and swimming pools of cement.

The water is pumped by an gasoline engine into the large pools, about 30x50 feet in size, out of the nearly 1500 feet deep well. The water presses up in the pipe to about 200 feet of the surface and is remarkably cool, clear and of good taste. Two bath houses to the north and west are connected by cement side walks with the pools. Each of the houses contains 9 rooms. This is a new institution and in operation the second summer now. The walls of the pools have been scraped off, freed from all moss and tarred lately and refilled this week. A beautiful hidden spot indeed. Here and there in the wide circle around a whirl wind takes immense masses of dust up in the air and the distant heights look like they were under a veil of fog.

The waste water out of the pools has another purpose, it is used by the owner and manager, Mr. C. J. Bless, for irrigating his crops below the hill. By simple ditches and furrows the water can be led to the different patches of which the cabbage had been the prettiest, although it proves to be a failure this year. The plants were set out too late and earlier plants had been killed by frost. Onions, Tomatoes, and pepper plants furnish returns for the care taken by the owner who only uses his spare time out here. Feed stuff crops are doing fine. So the waters of the deep well not only give a necessary comfort to our people in the swimming pool but enable them to enjoy the pure air and the green spots of the irrigated field not far from our town. And when children bear in mind that cement pools are of hard material and will not dive so that their heads strike against the walls there will be no danger at all for children who use the swimming pool.

Taking of Testimony in Criminal Cases.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 2. To amend Section 10, Article 1, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, providing for certain rights of accused persons in criminal prosecutions, and the manner in which the case may be prosecuted, and providing for the procuring of the testimony of the witnesses for both defense and prosecution.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

SECTION 1. That Section 10, Article 1, of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended that the same will read and hereafter be as follows:

SEC. (10). In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury. He shall have the right to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof. He shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself and shall have the right of being heard by himself or counsel, or both, shall be confronted by the witnesses against him and shall have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, except that when the witness resides out of the State and the offense charged is a violation of any of the anti-trust laws of this State, the defendant and the State shall have the right to produce and have the evidence admitted by deposition, under such rules and laws as the Legislature may hereafter provide; and no person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense, unless on an indictment of a grand jury, except in cases in which the punishment is by fine or imprisonment, otherwise than in the penitentiary, in cases of impeachment and in cases arising in the army or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger.

SEC. 2. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election for State and county officers.

SEC. 3. HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 27. Proposing an amendment to Art. 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas by changing Sec. 3, providing for a thirty-five cent tax levy for the maintenance of the public schools of Texas, and providing free text books in public schools of the State of Texas, and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

SECTION 1. That Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution, be so changed as to read as follows (creating a new section 3):

SEC. 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes and a poll tax of one ($1.00) dollar on every male inhabitant of this State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and, in addition thereto, there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred ($100) dollar valuation, as, with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and it shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to set aside a sufficient amount out of the said tax to provide free text books for the use of children attending the public free schools of this state; provided, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient, the deficit may be met by appropriation from the general funds of the State, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law without the local notice required in other cases of special legislation; and all such school districts, whether created by general or special law, may embrace parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts, and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such district, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein; provided, that a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax, not to exceed in any one year fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such district, but the limitation upon the amount of school districts tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts.

SEC. 2. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election for State and county officers.

SEC. 3. The qualified electors for members of the Legislature shall vote upon said amendment at the said general election and at which election all persons favoring said amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot the following: "For amendment to Section 10, Article 1 of the Constitution, providing for prosecution of criminal cases by information, or indictment, and taking of testimony of witnesses by deposition, under certain circumstances," and those opposed to such amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot as follows: "Against the amendment to Section 10, Article 1 of the Constitution."

SEC. 4. The sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds of the State Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expense of publishing, proclamation, and election.

SEED CORN SELECTION.

By FLETCHER DAVIS,
Field Agent State Dept. of Agriculture.

If the scarcity and high price of all manner of farm seeds this past spring, and the consequent difficulty of supplying oneself with sufficient seeds of the desired variety and quality, has taught us the importance of home production of seeds, the experience, annoying and expensive as it has been, is not without its salutary and compensatory lesson.

It is accepted by all students of biology, so far as the writer is informed, and it is borne out by the experience and observation of practical farmers everywhere, that the seeds of most if not all of our farm crops must be acclimated to any given section before they will produce the best results.

This is certainly true of animal life, and when we consider the more intimate relation of plant life with the soil and the greater dependence of plants upon favorable climatic and weather conditions, it is reasonable and logical that the same rule should apply with equal if not greater force to the latter.

Accepting this theory, then, as an established scientific fact, it follows that the best place for the farmer to secure his field seeds is in his own field and the best way to secure them is by producing and selecting them himself.

Therefore, the securing of the very best of seeds would call for the seed plot, for each crop produced on the farm, where the process of cross-fertilization might be studied and the system of selection and elimination might be carried to the limits of discernment and discrimination.

But as this calls for an intimate knowledge of the principles of plant growth and reproduction, together with observant and discriminating powers of mind and a painstaking attention to detail quite beyond the possibility of the busy American farmer, with all the multifarious affairs of his active life calling for his attention, to bestow upon the task, it must be dismissed from any scheme of general farming as impracticable.

The science and art of plant breeding when combined with practical business judgment is opening up a field that is at once fascinating and profitable to the man of that happy bent or trend of mind.

It is fascinating to the man of science because it opens a field for study, for experimentation and for observation as varied as plant life itself.

It offers an inviting field to the business man; because, with the natural trend of the times to specialization and the keen competition for the markets, the successful productions of his scientific endeavors will always command a high price from those busy farmers who are seeking the best in quality and variety.

It has already attracted a great many men of unusual ability and is attracting more every day.

But we haven't enough of scientific seed-breeders and producers in our country.

So long as each farm can not produce its own seeds—and seeds of the best quality—there should, at least, be a seed producer in every locality where the soil and climatic conditions are the same.

Therein lies an opportunity for the organized farmers of any community to co-operate in one of the most profitable enterprises they can undertake. Let them select from among their number the man who is most successful in growing some specific crop and contract with him to purchase from him at a stipulated, remunerative price seeds of standard quality for planting their crops, it being understood that he is to do for them what they haven't time to do for themselves—maintain the purity and improve the quality of that particular variety by careful scientific plant growing and seed selection.

But this is a desideratum that can not be achieved save through better organization and a better spirit of cooperation than now prevails among the farmers as a class.

Thus the farmer is left at this time mainly dependent upon his own resources and his own efforts in the matter.

And so, with the lessons of the past spring fresh in mind, not to mention the humiliating experience of having bad seeds of good varieties and excellent quality "run out" on our hands, the farmer with good varieties growing in his fields now will bestir himself with thoughts and plans for securing and preserving the best of his products or seed to the end that he may be supplied for another season or more.

The time for selecting seed corn is now.

There are three things in the selection of seed corn that calls for immediate attention. Those are healthfulness, purity and fitness to type.

While corn smut is not transmitted to the growing crop "in" the seed, as are the smuts of some other grains, no man wants to select his seed corn from smut-infested field.

The possibility of contaminating your seed field with smut spores adhering

HAVE YOU BEEN SICK?

Then you realize the utter weakness that robs ambition, destroys appetite and makes work a burden.

To regain your strength nothing has ever equaled or compared with Scott's Emulsion; its blood-enriching properties give energy to the body while its tonic value sharpens the appetite in a natural, permanent way.

If you are run down, tired, nervous, overworked or lack strength, be sure to get Scott's Emulsion today.

SCOTT & BOONE, Bloomfield, N.J.

to or "on" the seeds should be sufficient to warn anyone to exercise reasonable precaution.

Some go to the extent of subjecting seed corn to the usual smut-prevention treatment before planting, and while this is not to be disapproved entirely, it is more to be desired that the fields where seed corn is to be grown be ridged of smut infection entirely and the seeds not be allowed to come in contact with the smut spores at all.

This can be done by beginning in time and going often enough through the field and cutting out all of the smut balls—before they have matured, burst and scattered their spores to the winds—and collecting them at some convenient place and burning them, so as to prevent any possibility of any further infestation from them.

Any other appearance of diseased conditions that may be observed can at the same time be subjected to the pruning and burning process.

So can the healthfulness of the corn be maintained—so shall the progeny receive no disease-heritage from the progenitors.

At the same time, in order to preserve the purity and strength of the variety, every barren stalk, every stalk of doubtful variety, every defective stalk and every stalk that deviates too far from the type should be destroyed or detassled before the tassel has bloomed and spread its pollen where it will fructify the ears of those stalks that are to be retained for seed production.

In this way will the tendency to weakness and the consequent "running out" of the variety be eliminated and its purity and strength be preserved in the succeeding strain.

And, lastly, selection for trueness to type calls for discriminating judgment and skill in choice to the utmost of development of these faculties of mind eye and hand in the seed grower.

The type selected will, of course, depend upon the variety and the characteristics being sought.

As a general proposition, field selection of seed corn calls for uniformity first of all, for without uniformity there can be no trueness to type.

A stocky stalk, not too tall, with wide, vigorous blades, is the most desirable type of stalk for general farm planting in Texas.

The ears should be of uniform size, should grow from the stalk at a convenient and uniform distance from the ground and should be well covered with a thick shuck.

Where weevils and other injurious insects are so destructive of the grain, as they are in this country, a shuck that comes well down over the point of the ear, completely covering the grain, is a feature to be desired and observed in selection in the field.

Ears that tip towards the ground so as to shed the rain are also to be desired.

Other features will appeal to the discriminating eye of the corn breeder but these characteristics, if regarded by the farmer, are sufficient to greatly improve the type of corn he is now growing and will assure him a supply of seed corn of the right kind if he will begin now on the task of selecting it.

Stalks selected for seed in this way should be marked and watched so that the process of elimination may be continued through the growing season.

After the crop matures the process of elimination is transferred from the stalk to the ears, but that is another story meet for another time than this.

"The survival of the fittest" and "like begets like" are fundamental principles of life and the improvement of field seeds is an artificial method of eliminating the weak and defective and propagating only the strong and vigorous—those individuals and classes or varieties with the prepotency to transmit characteristics of the progenitors is the progeny.

Begin now, out in your own field, to select your seed corn for next year and the next, and, with discrimination and judgment and in conformity to nature's laws, select that and that only which is best.—The Southwest Farmer and Investor.

NOTE—The foregoing article was prepared for the June issue of the Southwestern Farmer and Investor, but was not published until July. It is, therefore, too late to be of much service this season. Farmers of Texas, who have corn that has survived the drought and matured sound healthy grain, should preserve it, not only to insure themselves and their less fortunate neighbors a supply of seed corn but because of the drought-resistant nature that has been bred in it.

ENGLISH WOMAN HAD SUFFERED 40 YEARS.

Tried every Kind of Treatment Here and Abroad But Get No Relief Until She Took Taniac.

"Taniac has really worked wonders in my case," said Mrs. Mary Higgins, 519 North Ochoa street, El Paso, Texas, recently. Mrs. Higgins is a native of England and was visiting in Aberystwyth City, South Wales, when war between England and Germany was declared, and has many relatives and friends on the battle front.

"For almost forty years," continued Mrs. Higgins, "I have suffered with indigestion and dyspepsia and during the past three years, especially, I have tried everything imaginable with no results until I got Taniac. I was advised to have an operation, which I did, for what was said to be gall stones but I continued to suffer. My stomach would cramp and bloat something awful after eating and even liquid diet did me the same way. My suffering was awful and I got so I was actually afraid to eat anything. A few years ago my nerves seemed to give way and I have been unable to get sufficient sleep and rest.

"While in Europe on a visit I tried many English remedies but neither the medicine or the trip helped me. I was induced to try Taniac and now after taking four bottles I can truthfully say I feel better than I have in at least thirty years. My sleep is sound and restful and, oh, it is such a relief to be able to eat what I want without suffering those terrible pains afterwards. I feel very grateful and am only too glad to tell others about the medicine that has done so much for me."

Taniac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Windrow, in Devine by Lion Drug Store, in D'Hanis by Louis Carle, in LaCoste by Dickey Drug Co., and in Dunlap by Louis A. Haby.

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SALE.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

COUNTY OF MEDINA.

By virtue of a certain Execution and Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of 73rd Judicial District of Bexar County, on the 24th day of May 1918, by the Clerk of said Court, against John B. Secret for the sum of One Hundred and Fifty-seven and 55/100 ($157.50) Dollars and costs of suit, in cause No. B-16270, in said Court, styled The Medina Townsite Company, versus John B. HOUSEWIVES URGED TO USE LESS SUGAR IN CANNING

Food Administrator Gives List of Sugarless Recipes.

SUGAR MUST BE SAVED!

A teaspoonful now nothing. You say. Yet a heaping teaspoonful saves each meal for two days for each of the 200,000 persons in the United States makes a pile as big as the Washington building enough to supply the entire armed forces of the nation.

of sugar allowed for each cup of juice will be sufficient. By employing this test sugar can often be reduced. In this case the jelly texture will be fine, less rubbery and the flavor better.

2. Preserved fruits. The preservation of fruits without sugar is a common household practice and depends upon accurate following of the method. Excess sugar will frequently form crystals and impair the appearance and quality of the product. A thin syrup made with four parts of water to one part sugar may be used for all fruits. If more sugar is desired it can be added at time of use either on the table or in general cookery.

3. Jam and marmalade. These require a larger amount of sugar than canned fruits and are used for special rather than general purposes. If made, use less sugar than "half and half" and cook longer.

4. Sweet pickle, watermelon rind pickle, etc. These require a large amount of sugar on account of the presence of vinegar. Except for the sugar, they have no more food value than pickles. They could well be omitted this year.

Note.—Canning without sugar will give good results provided that the time of cooking with sugar is about double.

Avoid the Use of Sugar.

1. Can vegetables freely. These require no sugar.
2. Encourage drying of fruits and vegetables.
3. Storage of fresh fruits, such as apples, winter pears and quinces, in a cool cellar, saves sugar.

APPOINT PUBLIC EATING PLACE STAFF OF DIRECTORS

Henceforth the principal work of the Federal Food Administration for Texas with the hotels and restaurants will be performed through the District Directors in the fifteen districts of Texas. The purpose of the District Director is to make him responsible for instructing the proprietors of hotels and restaurants and other public eating places in his district.

When no appointment of District Director of Hotels and Restaurants is made the work is handled by the District Administrators. The districts and the men responsible in them for the proper instruction of public eating places line up as follows:

First District, Otto Herold, Dallas; Second District, Coke Murphy, Lufkin, Texas; Third District, George W. Seibert, Beaumont; Fourth District, Kari M. Roberts, Houston; Fifth District, John R. Purman, San Antonio; Sixth District, Administrator Porter A. Whaley, Brownwood; Seventh District, Charles N. Bassett, El Paso; Eighth District, Administrator O. L. Williams, Amarillo; Ninth District, W. N. Monroe, Paris; Tenth District, H. C. Knowles, Fort Worth; Eleventh District, V. E. Stamps, Wichita Falls, Texas; Twelfth District, Administrator L. M. Hewitt, Navasota; Thirteenth District, R. E. Pellow, Waco; Fourteenth District, W. L. Stark, Austin, and Fifteenth District, Administrator T. F. Owen, San Angelo.

HOW TO SECURE MEXICAN LABOR, THAT'S THE IDEA

Mexicans of Military Age Coming to Texas to Work Won't Have to Register—Peden Confers.

Labor for all crops in Texas, and especially labor for caring for the cotton crop, is the biggest problem facing industrial Texas today. For a number of days Food Administrator Peden has been in continuous conferences with representative citizens from the cotton-growing sections of Texas, particularly on the subject of Mexican labor, and after exchanging many telegrams with Washington, Mr. Peden received the following message from the Food Administration on the attitude of the War department upon Mexican laborers of military age:

"Provost marshal general of war department rules as follows:

"Mexican citizens of military age who have not been residents of the United States and who temporarily come into this country after this date are not required to register and are consequently not liable to military service. A Mexican citizen of military age who has previously resided in the United States, but who has not registered and who returns to the United States, is required to register, but the selective service law and regulations provide for his complete exemption from performing military duty unless he waives his right thereto."

Under a ruling of June 20 Mexicans can be brought into the United States for agricultural purposes for the period of the war. The head tax is suspended as well as the illiteracy test. Applications for the importation of Mexican labor should be made to the United States Employment Bureau or the Immigration Bureau.

Administrators must be provided with housing and sanitation as provided by the State law. In the absence of a State law the housing and sanitary conditions must be approved by the United States Department of Labor. Further information in this connection can be secured from W. E. Hall, director of United States public service reserves.

FEDERAL AID FOR TEXAS ASKED IN LABOR SHORTAGE

STATEWIDE CONFERENCE AT SAN ANTONIO RESULTS IN SENDING MESSAGE TO SECRETARY OF LABOR AT WASHINGTON.

Government Is Asked to Raise Immigration Ban on Mexican Labor; Mexican Editors Entertained.

Food Administrator Peden has returned from San Antonio, where he was present at a conference on the labor situation, the result of which was a message to William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, urging that for a period of 90 days the immigration laws as to Mexican labor be immediately suspended and the bars be let down except as to the health requirements.

The conference brought out the fact that a small group of Texans in Southern Texas alone required 40,000 Mexican laborers in addition to those they already have, and that the need is manifold over the entire State.

As an interesting climax to the request that the present restrictions on Mexican labor be removed, Mr. Peden had an opportunity to address the Mexican editors who were recently received in Washington by President Wilson. These editors were in San Antonio on their way back to Mexico after a tour of the United States. In his address following a luncheon at the Gunter Hotel Mr. Peden read the message from the provost marshal general of the army to the Food Administration with reference to Mexicans of military age engaged in labor in the United States and the generous rulings provided for their military exemptions.

Administrator Peden also wired Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, requesting that Mr. Hoover take the matter up as a military necessity with the Department of Labor the need of additional labor at once in order that the farmer, who was urged to plant larger crops, may not be discouraged to do likewise in 1919.

New Bishop For San Antonio.

A cablegram from Rome has announced the appointment by Pope Benedict of a new Bishop for the Catholic Diocese of San Antonio, which has been vacant since the departure of Bishop J. W. Shaw, to become Archbishop of New Orleans.

The Bishop elect is the Rev. Arthur Drossarts, for several years Pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Baton Rouge, La. The date for the episcopal Consecration and the coming of Bishop Drossarts to San Antonio have not been announced.

Another appointment made at the same time is that of Rev. C. E. Byrne, of St. Louis, Mo. to be Bishop of Galveston.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and scybala gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

GLYCERINE MIXTURE FOR APPENDICITIS.

Hondo people can prevent appendicitis with simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ka. ONE SPOONFUL flushes the ENTIRE bowel tract so completely it relieves ANY CASE sour stomach, gas or constipation and prevents appendicitis. The INSTANT, pleasant action of Adler-ka surprises both doctors and patients.

It has been the observation of the Food Administration that ice cream manufacturers generally carry great quantities of crushed ice on their delivery wagons; they sometimes go so far as to mix salt with the ice, which increases the melting several fold. This crushed ice and salt is used to repack the ice cream of their customers. The ice in the wagon is not protected, is carelessly handled in the distribution and is not conserved by the customer because it costs him nothing. It is sometimes found that the ice cream wagons on returning to the factory will make no attempt to put the returned ice in a protected place, but will allow it to melt in the wagon or be swept into the yard.

These reports are from the extreme cases, but the number of them the Food Administration receives from over Texas indicates that a large quantity of ice can be saved to a community by stopping the abuse of the ice cream trade.

It may be necessary to stop altogether the practice of the ice creamer reicing, free of charge, his customer's cabinets or tubs. If the customer is obliged to buy the ice in solid form from the ice cream wagon or from the ice dealer and do his crushing and packing, he will be vastly more conservative in his use of ice for this purpose.

Too Many Retailers.

In some neighborhoods there are too many people retailing ice cream and thus an undue amount of ice is required in proportion to the amount of ice cream sold.

It is also a suggestion of the Food Administrator that where a moderate amount of ice cream is sold only one or two flavors should be carried and a corresponding small cabinet be used.

Restaurants, hotels and clubs can reduce their ice consumption by cutting down the variety of food they serve and thus reduce the number of refrigerators in service. Serving crushed ice on fruits, seafood, salads and so forth should certainly be stopped. Ice should be omitted from the drinking glasses.

Extravagant use of ice is also reported as occurring at many fish markets, where the ice is likely to lay around unprotected. Strict care is insisted upon by the Food Administration in such establishments.

REVOKE LICENSE OF WEST, TEXAS, DEALER.

Effective July 10, the United States Food Administration announces that the license of L. Poteet, West, Texas, as wholesaler, jobber and retailer of wheat, oats and corn, has been revoked by the Food Administration. This action followed a hearing of the complaint charging that Mr. Poteet had wrongfully refused to accept two cars of oats shipped to him by the Clement Grain Company of Waco.

The hearing was conducted by special examiner appointed by E. A. Peden, Federal Food Administrator for Texas, and the enforcement division announces that the revocation will continue in effect until further notice, and no application for re-issuance of license will be entertained by the Food Administration prior to September 9.

CONSUMPTION OF ICE TO BE REDUCED

FOOD ADMINISTRATION TELLS OF WAYS PRODUCT IS WASTED.

Re-icing of Ice Cream by Maker May Be Forbidden—Cracked Ice Should Not Be Used With Drinks.

There are many ice economics that the householder should practice in the conservation of ice, announces the Federal Food Administrator for Texas, and first of these is that refrigerators should be kept clean and doors kept tight and the drip trap kept in place. The door of the refrigerator should never be opened except when necessary, and then for the shortest possible space of time; no hot foods should be placed in the refrigerator.

Cracked ice should not be put in glasses to cool drinking water and other beverages. A bottle of water kept in the refrigerator or water drawn from the water cooler will furnish a sufficiently cool drink.

Crushed ice should not be used in serving fruits, salad, seafoods, radishes, celery, tomatoes and so forth. These articles will be found perfectly palatable when chilled to the temperature of the refrigerator.

The greatest waste in the use of ice, the Food Administration has discovered, is among those concerns using the greatest quantity of ice. They have naturally been able to buy at the low cost price and their employees (forgetful of ice value) have generally been most wasteful in their handling of this perishable article.

Saving Ice Urged.

A reduction in the use of ice by ice cream manufacturers naturally follows from the diminished production brought about by the restrictions on the use of sugar. But a further very considerable saving of ice can be effected by certain economics, which the Food Administration insists upon.

It has been the observation of the Food Administration that ice cream manufacturers generally carry great quantities of crushed ice on their delivery wagons; they sometimes go so far as to mix salt with the ice, which increases the melting several fold. This crushed ice and salt is used to repack the ice cream of their customers. The ice in the wagon is not protected, is carelessly handled in the distribution and is not conserved by the customer because it costs him nothing. It is sometimes found that the ice cream wagons on returning to the factory will make no attempt to put the returned ice in a protected place, but will allow it to melt in the wagon or be swept into the yard.
